He was born in Charleston in 1832, his father being Mr. Abraham Moise who was a native of the Island of Hayti, having moved to Charleston in 1812, where he studied law and practiced his profession as a partner of the late R. W. Shand for a number of years.

General Moise was a self-made man, having in his early youth only his own natural ability and an indomitable fund of energy to bank on. Yet when the Confederate war opened he organized a company of 120 men, 50 of whom he mounted at his own expense, costing him $10,000. The company was named after him, and afterward became Company A of the Seventh Confederate cavalry, Col. W. C. Cla borne commanding, of which company Mr. Moise was made captain. In 1863 he was made major of the Seventh regiment, and near the close of the war to the command who also made a brief address, which of the regiment, though he never re- was a feeling, eloquent and true ceived his commission as colonel, tribute to Gen. Coldest In Twenty-Six Years.

New York, December 11.-New York and New England have experienced during the past twentyfour hours the coldest weather of many years. In this city it was the coldest December 11, in twenty-six years, the thermometer registering in 1876 8 degrees above zero. The severity of the cold was intensified by the fact that the people were not prepared for it, the cold wave havng descended upon the country suddenly and without warning. Then, too, the scarcity of coal caused much suffering, among the poorer classes and even those able to afford the luxury of a ton of anthracite had to use it sparingly for fear that the cold snap would last and they would be unable to get a fresh supply. Every effort is being put forth to alleviate the suffering, charitable organizations having taken steps to help the poor "Weak" lungs and the board of aldermen having are made strong by the use of Dr. word $100,000 to help along the good cause.
